Rome had to leave Britain, then England

minus sanitation and minus money.*

Live Stock.

India is daily loosing ground as a cattle country.

Lord Curzon's despatch of 1903.

Every minute a cow is exported out of India (Blue book 1921)

The fodder question is taking a serious turn, practically every where in India.

Sir Charles Elliot.

Forest and Rainfall

In the early part of the British rule forests were rapidly destroyed. [Production in India.]

Francis Brown was one of the first to sound the note of alarm at the destruction of forests in India and consequent decrease in rainfall.

Irrigation and Railways

Railway—Total route mileage 38579

Capital outlay—754 crores of Rupees.

Total weight of goods carried by Railways 80 Lacs tons.

The East India Company cost far more if not twice as much as it ought to have cost. Enormous sums were lavished and the contractors had no motive whatever for economy. All the money came from the English capitalist and so long as he was granted 5% on the revenue of India it was immaterial to him.

Whether the fund that he lent were thrown into the Hoogly or converted in bricks or mortars. The result was these large sums were expended and that the East India Ry. cost I think (I speak without book) about £ 30,000 (Rs. 4,50,000) a mile. It seems to me they are the most extravagant works that were ever undertaken.

Rt. Hon. N. Mashaq, 1872.

The Railways of India helped the English people to wealth.....The Railways have broken up many of the old industries of India and thus have brought hardship and suffering to millions of people but they enrich the ruling nation and they give her a firmer military grip upon her valuable dependency and so money can always be found for them, whatever else suffers.

Rev. Sunderland.

Before all the water-ways of Bengal are ruined by injudicious concessions to the Railway interest, it is to be hoped that the Government of India will look into the matter.

Daily News
1905.

It might be found that in many of the irrigated parts of the Empire, famine was never absent.

Digby.

There is a considerable amount of evidence to support the view that Railway construction has been largely responsible for the disastrous change that has come over many parts of the delta in last 70 years.

Dr. C. A. Bently, 1925.

In India there are only 21275 miles of canals for irrigation. Area under crop is 2258 lacs of acres and area irrigated is only 475 lacs of acres i, e, only  $\frac{1}{5}$  of the whole area.

The miles upon miles of its Bengal great Canals have been allowed to silt up and be degraded.

Sir William Willcocks.

Agricultural Labourers.

The condition of agricultural labourers in India is a disgrace to any Country calling itself civilised.

W. R. Robertson.

The Government assessment does not live enough food to the cultivator to support himself and family throughout the year.

Sir William Hunter.

Half the agricultural population of India to-day do not know from half years end to another what it is to have a full meal.

Sir Charles Elliot.

Sugar

Annual consumption of sugar per head 24·7 lbs. in India and that of America and Australia are 103·5 lbs and 126·9 lbs. respectively.

Upon the first possession of Calcutta by the Company there was a flourishing export trade in sugar, whilst the local consumption of the article was enormous.

Dr. Royle in Productive Resources in India.

In 1925-26 India bought 15 crores 188 lacs of rupees worth of sugar per consumption.

Blue Book 5th Issue.

In 1844 the imports of Bengal and Madras sugar into the port of London alone amounted to 31,000 tons, in 1846 to 44,000 tons and in 1851 to 43,000 tons of which 30,000 were from Bengal and 13000 from Madras.

India is the only country where salt is taxed in any way. Poor millions whose every morsel of food is thus taxed are pining away in their wretched thatches along with their starving cattle.

I believe myself that a great deal of the loss of the cattle from murrain in India has arisen from want of salt.

Lord Lawrence.

There is no evidence to establish that salt was ever taxed in India except during that transition period of 1737 to 1757 and that in limited area.

Trade and Industries.

The English army of Traders in their march ravaged worse than a Tartarian conqueror. The trade they carried on more resembled robbery than commerce. Thus this miserable country was torn to pieces by the horrible rapaciousness of the foreign Traders. (Burke)

The general principle was to be that England was to force all her manufactures upon India and not to take a single manufacture of India in return.

Teirney.

Cloth Trade

It was the British invasion that shattered the Indian handloom and smashed the spinning wheel into pieces.

Karl Marx.

Weavers upon their inability to perform such agreements as have been forced upon them by the company's agents universally known in Bengal by the name of mutchulcahs have had there goods seized and sold on the spot to make goods the deficiency and the winders of the raw silk have been treated also with such injustice that instances have been known of cutting off their thumbs to prevent their being forced to work.

Ship Building.

The arrival in the port of London of Indian produce in India-built ships created a sensation among the monopolists...

.....

They declared that their business was on the point of ruin and that the families of all the shipwrights in England were certain to be reduced to starvation.

This led to the ruin of Indian ship building trade.

Education.

It is obvious that when the British took possession of the country, they found that there existed a wide-spread system of National Education.

(Did they spread Education?)<sup>1</sup>

When any people or country is subjected by a stronger power, it must be taken for granted that one of the first thing the conquerors will do will be to either destroy, discourage, or rigidly control education in the oppressed country. For knowledge and subjection cannot work hand in hand.

Why should you give the Indians the advantage of knowledge ?.....you have ransacked their country, despoiled its people, murdered their princes and of course for your own protection you must keep them deluded deceived and ignorant.

Sir Thomas Turton.

(1813—in the House of Commons)

Indians met at my house on May 14th. 1816 and demanded education and after much discussions, and deliberation they themselves launched a fund securing Rs. 50,000 on the spot. I watched the proceedings.

Moral Degradation.

There is one general consequence which I should think likely to result from a general influx of Europeans into the interior of the country and their intercourse with the natives, that without elevating the character of the natives, it would have a tendency to depreciate their estimate of the general European character.

Sir John Shore.

But this is not all. The native sailors of India who are chiefly Mahomedans are to the disgrace of our national morals, on their arrival here, led to scenes which soon divest them of the respect and awe they had entertained in India for the European character ; they are robbed of their little property and left to wonder ragged and destitute in the streets.

Supplement to the Fourth Report E. I. Co.

I have no hesitation in affirming that in the Hindu and Mussalman cities removed from European intercourse there is much less depravity than there is in Calcutta, Madras and Bombay where Europeans chiefly congregate.

Captain Westmetak.

It has been observed as a general truth that the more connection the natives have had with the English, the more immoral and the more worse in every respect they become.

Sir John Shore.

In the Nerbudda Territories I have known whole districts depopulated in consequence of the action of our spirit contractors. They used to send people all over the country to seduce these poor simple folk and utterly demoralise them. ## India in Days goneby.

ants there must have amounted to some hundred thousands ; and if they had an inclination to have destroyed the Europeans, they might have done it with sticks and stones.

Lord Clive.

We appeal to the testimony of those who marched through Bengal after the death of Sirajodoula, that at that time it was one of the richest, most populous and best cultivated kingdom in the world. The greatmen and merchants were wallowing in wealth and luxury, the inferior tenants and manufacturers were blessed with plenty, content and ease.

Dowe 1871.

During Company's Rule.

By the time when the provinces of Bengal, Behar and Orissa (1765) came under your jurisdiction they were much sunk in opulence, population and manufactures from their ancient importance.

(View of Bengal Verelest)

Imagine how black must have been their deeds, when even the directors of the company admitted that the vast fortunes acquired in the inland trade have been obtained by a scene of the most tyrannical and oppressive conduct that was ever known in any age or country.

Social Statics, 1st Edi., Page 367.

England's industrial supremacy owes its origin to the vast hoard of Bengal and the Carnatic treasures being made available for her use. Before Plassey was fought and won and before the stream of treasures began to flow to England, the industry of our country was at a very low ebb.

Digby.

On easy computation it can safely be asserted that between Plassey and Waterloo some one thousand million pounds flowed from India to England.

Major Wingate.

Enormous fortunes were thus rapidly accumulated at Calcutta while thirty millions of human beings were reduced to an extremity of wretchedness.

Macaulay's Essay on Lord Clive.

These hoards, the saving of millions of human beings for centuries the English seized and took to London as the Romans had taken the spoils of Greece and Pontus to Italy.

Brooks Adams.

India-to-day.

Famine stricken India is being bled for the maintenance of England's world-wide Empire.

India leaves on the mind an impression of poorness and melancholy. Sadder than the country are the common people of it. They are lean and weary looking, their clothing is scanty. They all seem poor, and toiling for "leave" to live. They appear feeble and depressed.

Sir Frederic. Treves.

It is an indisputable fact that at the present moment there is hardly a village in British India which is not deeply, hopelessly in debt—1880.

(India under Ripon.)

* * * *

Even as we look on, India is becoming feebler and feebler. The very life blood of the great multitude under our rule is slowly, yet ever faster ebbing away.

A. M. Hyndman, 1915.

Administration and exploitation are but two functions of the same Government.

—Lord Curzon—
Silchar-speech 1902.

If Britain has to leave India as suddenly as Rome had to leave Britain then England shall leave behind a country minus education, minus sanitation and minus money.

Sir Daniel Hamilton.

Motto of British Administration

Our true policy should be to play off race against race and caste against caste.

British rule was established by playing Hindus against Mahomedans and native states and Principalities against each other.

Study Club Bulletin No. 2 Tokyo (1925).

To retain power in India we must sweep away every political establishment and every social usage which may prevent our influence from being universal and complete.

The Times 29th June 1857.

In India the theory of Government is and must be simple despotism. The only choice for us is between a despotism of brute force and one of reason and justice.
